

HARVEST OF THE REAPER

REMAINS OF DR. CULLEN TAKEN TO THEIR LAST RESTING PLACE.

Impressive Funeral Services at the First Presbyterian Church—Death of Mrs. Louisiana Franklin Carter Neal.

The funeral of the late J. S. Dorsey Cullen took place yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock from the First Presbyterian church and was attended by a very large congregation. Besides the family and relatives there were present a large body of the medical fraternity of this city, a large delegation of students from the Medical College, and men prominent in the business life of Richmond.

The services were most impressive, and were conducted by Rev. Dr. R. P. Kerr, pastor of the church; Rev. Dr. John B. Stearns, rector of the Monumental church, and Rev. J. Calvin Stewart, of the Church of the Covenant. The hymns were "Lead, kindly Light," and "I Would Not Live Aboard," sung sweetly by the choir under the direction of Mr. N. B. Clapp. Mr. William H. Grant sang "Rest in the Lord."

The floral tributes to the memory of so good a man as Dr. Cullen were in full keeping with his popularity, and the very high esteem in which he was held by all classes of citizens. They were exquisitely beautiful.

The following gentlemen acted as pallbearers: Honorary—Major E. T. D. Myers, Colonel Archer Anderson, Colonel W. H. Palmer, Colonel E. L. Hobson, M. Millhiser, Colonel John B. Purcell, Major Norman C. Randolph, Captain Philip Hazell, R. A. Lancaster, Virginia Newton, Dr. J. S. Wellford, Colonel John B. Cary, James B. Pate, John T. Gray, Major Leigh Page and O. A. Greenhaw.

Active—Dr. E. D. Myers, Jr., William C. Freeman, Henry Valenzuela, Dr. Lewis C. Fisher, Dr. Matthews, William M. Hill, A. Helme Blair and F. M. Rutherford.

The interment was at Hollywood. The students of the Medical College of Virginia feel very deeply the loss of one who was so greatly beloved and revered by them all. Yesterday they held a mass-meeting and adopted the following resolutions, presented by a committee appointed for that purpose, composed of Messrs. T. P. Hope, W. L. Harris, N. P. Reed and J. N. Barney, Jr.:

Whereas it has pleased an all-wise Providence to remove from our midst the revered dean of the Medical College of Virginia, Dr. J. S. Cullen, in the midst of his strength and usefulness to the community, the college and the medical profession; be it

Resolved by the students in mass-meeting assembled, First, That we desire to bear witness to the ability and painstaking care of his instruction; to his enduring influence upon so many generations of young men, as professor, friend and adviser; and, above all, to the silent effect of his career as a successful physician and an upright man, which has acted as a stimulus to so many who have not under his instruction.

Second, That in his death the medical profession sustains a great loss by the passing away of one who has always striven toward the utmost heights of usefulness in his calling, and whose death breaks another link in the growing chain of those who did their country's duty in the great civil strife of the last generation.

Third, That we desire to extend to the inmates of his home our heartfelt sympathy at the grief which he has left upon them, and to trust that the hand which "afflicteth not willingly" may in his mercy heal their sorrow.

Fourth, That a copy of these resolutions be forwarded to the family of the deceased, and also to the daily press of the city, with a request that they be published.

A large number of the physicians of the city came yesterday in the rooming of the Academy of Medicine and Surgery to take appropriate action upon the death of Dr. Cullen. Dr. C. W. P. Brock presided, with Dr. James N. Ellis as secretary. Remarks were made by many of those present, and testimony was borne to the esteem in which the deceased was held. Drs. Gordon, John R. Wheat, Gray, Hope and Kuyk were appointed a committee to draft suitable resolutions. The following were submitted and adopted:

Whereas, on the 23rd day of this month death removed from our midst Dr. J. S. Dorsey Cullen, we, the profession of Richmond, assembled on the 24th day of March, 1893,

Resolved, That while this occasion is to us one of deep sorrow, we bow in humble submission to the will of Him, in whose hands are the lives of all men.

2. That in the death of Dr. Cullen we have lost a noble and noble character, a consistent practitioner and teacher, an experienced counsellor and a true friend.

3. That we extend to the bereaved family our sincere sympathy, and that resolutions in the daily papers and medical journals of the city, and that a copy be sent to the family.

Mrs. Louisiana Franklin Carter Neal.

The death of Mrs. Louisiana Franklin Carter Neal occurred yesterday morning, at 4 o'clock, at the residence of her husband, at the residence of the late Thomas D. Neal. She had been in ill health for some time past, and on Wednesday last she was attacked with paralysis, which caused her death.

Mrs. Neal was born in Halifax county, Va., June 26, 1822, and was married in Danville to Mr. Neal, where she resided several years before moving to Richmond. She was one of Richmond's best known ladies, and was held in the highest esteem by all, being of a kind disposition, and charitable to a fault. Her friends were legion. Mrs. Neal was the mother of thirteen children, the following of whom are living: Mrs. James B. Pace, Mrs. James A. Griggs, Mrs. George L. Marshall, Messrs. Thomas D. C. B. and W. G. Neal, of this city, and Mrs. P. W. Ferrell, Mr. James M. Neal, Mr. C. C. Neal, of Danville, and Mrs. S. J. Graham, of Pittsburgh, Pa.

The funeral will take place this afternoon at 4 o'clock from the Second Baptist church.

The following are the honorary pallbearers: A. B. Buford, W. G. Miller, R. C. Morton, William Ryan, Jackson B. Wood, James Leigh Jones, Joseph P. Swords and John Enders, Sr.

Active: Ben. Lawson, Jackson Miller, A. R. Yarbrough, M. T. Smith, A. E. Donnan, J. C. Williams, Jr., Langhorne Putney and W. G. Stokes.

Mrs. W. J. Powers.

Mrs. W. J. Powers died at the residence of her husband, in Cumberland county, on the night of the 23d, of brain fever. She was about a few days, and was an estimable lady, and loved by all who knew her. She was the daughter of the late John Spears, of Powhatan county, and her remains were taken to Mount Zion church, in Powhatan county, to be buried with her father and the rest of the family.

To-morrow's Sunday Times will consist of twenty-four pages, beautifully illustrated and clearly printed. It will contain interesting reading for men, women and children.

The Dog Was Not Mad.

The dog supposed to have been mad, which bit two small children on Twenty-fifth street Thursday afternoon late, as have been rabies. It seems the canine had been worried by a lot of boys, and was fighting its way through the crowd. The little children in question are not seriously hurt, and the attending physician does not think that anything serious will arise from the wounds, which are slight.

It was reported that another child was bitten by the dog in his wild flight, but it could not be confirmed.

MR. CUSSEN'S ESTATE.

It is Left to a Number of Relatives and Friends.

In the chancery court yesterday the will of the late William James Cussen was admitted to probate. Mr. Gustavus Millier having qualified as executor. The estate was valued in the sum of $200,000 without security, this wish being expressed in the will.

The property left by Mr. Cussen amounts to about $150,000, which embraces real estate worth $20,000; personal property to the extent of $50,000, and insurance policy, aggregating a total of $90,000.

The first clause in the will provides for the payment of the just debts of Mr. Cussen. The amount of these is not stated, but the bequests make a total of $100,000, and it is believed that the legacies will be a considerably larger amount than that.

In case the assets should prove sufficient or insufficient to satisfy the sums donated the legatees are to share ratably. The beneficiaries in the will are: Miss Armilla Irene Cussen, daughter of the deceased, whose share is to go to St. Sophie's Home (Little Sisters of the Poor), and to the Male Orphan Asylum; Miss Amelie Cussen, daughter of the deceased; Edward J. Cussen, son of the deceased, whose share is to be held in trust by the executor until the legatee manifests that he is a good, industrious and upright man. In the event of his death without issue his share is to go to St. Paul's Home for Aged and Infirm Women; Mrs. M. G. Gwatkin, Mrs. Philomena M. Smith, Miss Lee Camp, John C. Gibson, Joseph E. Long, G. D. Lambeth, Walter J. Turner, Emilie Gibson (the amount left to this legatee was, in the event of her death prior to the death of the testator, to have been given to the Denny-street Methodist church), George W. Hudson, the Fulton Baptist church, $1,000; Weddell Memorial Mission (Episcopal), $1,000; Denny-street Methodist church, $1,000.

Be sure to see to-morrow's Sunday Times. There will be twenty-four pages, bright, crisp and new, with beautiful illustrations.

The Bottom of the Sea.

The large audience at the Richmond Theatre last evening was well pleased with "The Bottom of the Sea," a marine spectacle and melodrama in five acts. The galleries were crowded, and there was quite a large number of seats occupied in the orchestra.

The play depends a great deal upon the scenery, and the scenic effects are equal to the occasion. In the first act, the rescuing of drowning people by the American steam yacht is a very clever piece of realistic work. The laying of the cable on board the French man-of-war, "Invincible," in the third act is another, and the bottom of the sea in the fourth act is a beautiful series of transformations.

The cast is well sustained by competent actors and actresses. George P. Webster, as the Greek adventurer, does admirable work, and Miss Camille Cleveland, as Emilie le Brun, is pleasing and pretty.

In the second act Miss Helen Conklin does a bit of dancing in a very clever manner, and George Almont sings one of the usual Irish songs that accompany the coachman in a melodrama. "Miss Dorothy Reaping," the sister of Le Brun, plays the part with artistic ability.

As a whole, the play is above the ordinary, and will attract large audiences at the matinee and performance this evening.

To-morrow's Sunday Times will be a mammoth newspaper. Twenty-four pages chock full of local, Virginia and telegraphic news. Besides many columns of interesting reading for all.

Arrested the Mercantile.

Officer John T. Hall returned yesterday from Petersburg with "Doc" Graves, a white youth of sixteen, who, it is believed, with the assistance of an accomplice, is the party who has been committing the various petty robberies in Richmond lately.

"Doc" Graves, partner in crime is supposed to be a young white lad whose parents live here, and who have sent him out of the city to avoid arrest. He is at some point on the Norfolk and Western railway, and it is only a matter of a few days when he will be apprehended and brought back to Richmond for trial.

A dime novel was found at McCarthy & Haynes' the morning after the robbery with the "Old Clinch, the New Orleans Shadow."

This "beautiful" piece of literature was undoubtedly dropped by one of the boys. Major Poe, in expressing his views, says this class of reading matter has done more to corrupt the youth of Richmond than anything he knows of.

They Will Not Submit to It.

Several gentlemen who are interested in business have been asked what they would do in regard to paying taxes on their paid up capital stock, which has been ordered to be taxed by the Finance Committee of the Council.

Captain Carlton (or rather his son) said that the tax was entirely unjust, and that his company would carry the matter through the highest courts before they would submit to the taxation. They pay taxes on their real estate, he said, and he represents their money. Various others agree with Captain McCarthy, among which are Messrs. S. S. Elam and Samuel H. Pulliam.

The cost to his company, Mr. Elam stated, if they were taxed would be about $2,500. At this rate, said the gentleman, "We would have to give up business or move to New York."

Col. John Murphy and the Guarantee Fund.

Colonel John Murphy has collected about $170 of the money guaranteed to the Virginia Agricultural and Mechanical Society.

Colonel Murphy has not been able to find his guarantee list, and he does not remember all of the names contained therein. He says, however, that he will appreciate it most highly if those who promised at the time to help bear the loss will come forward and pay in their subscriptions. If this is not done, Colonel Murphy will have to pay the amounts for which they obligated themselves, and which will aggregate about $1,400.

Baptist City Missionary Society.

The monthly meeting of the Baptist City Missionary Society, which was postponed last Sunday on account of the centennial meeting, will be held to-morrow afternoon, at 2:30 o'clock at the Venable street Baptist church. Besides important matters the report will be acted upon, which has been made by the committee to whom was referred the resignation of the missionary, Rev. G. F. Williams.

No Business Transacted.

The adjourned meeting of the Richmond and West Point Terminal stockholders that was to have been held at noon yesterday at the Exchange Hotel was again adjourned. Another attempt will be made at the same place and hour on April 2th.

FRANCHISES GRANTED

AND TWO ELECTRIC RAILROADS WILL BE COMMENCED SOON.

Citizens Ejected From the Council Chamber—The Secret Session an Exciting One. Other Manchester News.

MANCHESTER BUREAU (RICHMOND TIMES), 1121 HULL STREET, BEATTIE BLOCK.

At an adjourned meeting of the City Council, held in the Council Chamber last evening, the following members were present: Messrs. O'Brien (chairman), Taylor, Utz, Sims, Weisiger, Morris, Morton, Ely, Campbell, Hart, Fair and Starke.

City Attorney Clifton, Mr. George E. Fisher, who is interested in the proposed new road from Manchester to Midlothian, and Major B. H. Nash, of Richmond, council for the new company; George H. Jewitt and John C. Robinson, representing the proposed new electric line to Petersburg, and Colonel George K. Macdon, counsel for that company, were also on hand.

The report of the special committee appointed for the purpose of conferring with the members of the Central Methodist church with reference to building a number of cells in the rear of the station house, near the church, was returned favorable to such action.

Mr. Sims offered a resolution that the report of the committee be adopted and that the Committee on Grounds and Buildings be authorized to begin the erection of the cells. The resolution was adopted by a vote of 7 to 1.

The ordinance granting the franchises to the new roads were read by City Attorney Clifton.

Mr. George H. Jewitt, in behalf of the Petersburg line, took the floor. He said he was not opposed to the construction of the Midlothian line, but he was surprised that the representatives of that company were opposed to the line to Petersburg, by which passengers could be brought from that city to Manchester in ten cents.

He thought the company was a strong argument in favor of the franchise being granted. He said that the opposition company argued against the Petersburg line on the ground that it would never be built, and that the company securing the franchise would sell this right to other parties.

In reply to this he referred to the promises on the part of those interested in the company, and spoke of T. William Pemberton, T. M. R. Talcott and Colonel William H. Palmer, whose words, he said, were as good as their bond. Mr. Jewitt stated that his company was willing to accept the ordinance as construed by the Street Committee, but not if that committee bound them down with a burden of conditions. He referred to the great advantage that would be the outcome of the road in the way of increasing the value of real estate, and declared that the road would certainly be built if the council would grant the franchise as provided for by the ordinance.

Major B. H. Nash, representing the proposed road to Midlothian, said that he had not opposed the plan of the Chesterfield board of supervisors to grant a franchise to the proposed line to Petersburg, but as counsel for the Richmond and Petersburg Railroad Company, he could not stand by and be silent in a proceeding that was illegal. He maintained that the board of supervisors had no right to give the company the right of way over the turnpike. He said that his company was not competing with the line to Petersburg outside the city, but within the city the two lines would run over the same street part of the way, and with the present system as operated by the companies represented by Mr. Fisher, which system would be improved with the Midlothian road, he thought it would be an unreasonable action on the part of the council to disregard the rights of the company.

Mr. George K. Macdon then spoke in the interest of the Petersburg line. He said that he was paid by the company to represent their cause, but that he would not advocate any scheme which he believed to be disadvantageous to the city of Manchester. All he asked was to secure the right to run their cars over the short distance of 167 feet on Seventh street with the other line, and that the two companies could make satisfactory terms among themselves.

He was unwilling that the company be represented deposit $5,000 with the city treasurer as compensation to the city for the franchise, and that the road would prove of great advantage to real estate in Manchester, and he thought it would be a great mistake on the part of the council to refuse to grant a franchise for the construction of a road that would greatly improve transportation from this point through Chesterfield county to Petersburg.

Considerable discussion arose on the part of the members of the council, and it was decided that the council had granted an exclusive right of way over the 167 feet on Seventh street to Mr. Fisher's company, and that it had no right to allow the Petersburg Company to come in and interfere with running their cars over the same street.

Mr. Morris believed in ousting the Midlothian Company by a contract that would specify the service they intended giving.

A number of other members expressed themselves pro and con, and then the chairman ordered the citizens and reporters to vacate, while the council went into a secret session.

Mr. Fair moved that the reporters be allowed to remain, but the chairman refused to entertain the motion.

There was considerable unfavorable comment on the part of a number of the most prominent citizens in Manchester on the action of the chairman in ordering the visitors to leave. One prominent citizen insisted that the council had no right to prevent them from being present when it was a question of giving away city property. Another stated that it was a great mistake, and not calculated to please the citizens in any respect; while others were emphatic in their expressions of disapproval at such treatment.

The secret session was one of much interest and excitement, and judging from the number of wildly emphatic gestures on the part of many of the members, as seen through a missing slit in the outside blind.

There were three newspaper representatives present, and the long and long respective physiognomies, like that of a hungry man when gazing at a tempting supper out of his reach, was a study for the artist that paints dining-room pictures. All three of us could hear voices raised to a loud pitch and see hands flying in the air and No. 10 shoes stamping the floor with some degree of enthusiasm, but to gain anything intelligible under these circumstances was, of course, out of the question, and so we had to watch and wait patiently till the wee sma' hours, occasionally giving vent to our feelings with a few epithets more emphatic than pious, each of which struck a sympathetic chord in the bosom of the unfortunate compositor.

It is a question whether the council had a right to withhold the result of the members' votes from the public, especially in the important question of granting franchises to two different railroad companies. Whether or not it was legal, certainly it was an unheard-of proceeding, and one which the sooner corrected the better.

A final decision was reached at a late hour, and the ordinance granting a franchise to the Richmond, Manchester and Petersburg Electric Railroad Company to construct and operate an electric line between the city and Palis city, and also the ordinance granting to the Manchester and Midlothian Railway and Mining Company the right to construct and operate an electric line between this city and Midlothian, were adopted.

That the companies furnish eight arc lights for Stockton street, and be held responsible for any damage done by street grading.

An ordinance permitting builders to erect any structures on Hull street from Fifth to the river, provided that they be two stories high, was adopted.

Permission to the proprietors of Davis' brick yard to make excavations on their premises was also granted.

The council then adjourned.

Operations on an extensive scale will soon be commenced in the development of the Chesterfield coal mines. This will give employment to a large number of people, and will be an advantage to Manchester as well. Mr. Dinniny, who is interested in the Chesterfield mines, is now having built branches of railroad which will be used soon in hauling coal from the mines.

Among the matters to come up for consideration before the Chesterfield Agricultural Society, which will meet in the office of the commissioner, in Richmond, April 1st at 10 A. M., will be the question of the premium money which the county won at the last State Exposition, and which it is understood has not yet been paid. The amount is about $700.

The case of the city of Manchester against J. D. Crump, which came up, will be decided in the hustings court next week.

Mr. Crump was fined for driving a loaded wagon over one of the macadamized streets without the proper width tires, as required in the ordinance.

The appeal was taken in order to make a test of the legality of the ordinance, and the court's decision will be looked forward to with much interest by the number of persons whom it affects.

The police officers have as yet failed to get on the track of the guilty parties who assaulted Mr. W. A. Parker near the Hull-street depot a few nights ago.

The Literary and Social Club, which is composed of many of the most prominent people of Manchester, held a meeting last evening at the residence of Dr. George Friend, on Porter street. Several of the features of the meeting were both instructive and entertaining, and the evening was a highly enjoyable one to every present.

Mr. Edwin P. Cox, attorney at law, of Richmond, Va., qualified to practice in the hustings court of this city yesterday.

Major Robert Stiles, of Richmond, will deliver an address at the Gospel meeting in Leader Hall to-morrow afternoon.

To-morrow's Sunday Times will consist of twenty-four pages, beautifully illustrated and clearly printed. It will contain interesting reading for men, women and children.

A Chinese Tea.

The Missionary Cleaners' Band, composed of the juveniles of Grace-street Presbyterian church, under the management of Miss Bessie Tribbett, gave a delightful entertainment in the lecture-room of that church last evening, called a "Chinese Tea." Some of the little girls were dressed in Chinese costumes, and the room was decorated prettily in Chinese style. Both tea as a beverage and in the leaf was dispensed by the Little Cleaners.

The band consisted of a missionary school in China, and the proceeds were for that purpose. The programme of singing and recitation, which interspersed the evening, was attractively rendered.

Broke His Thigh.

At 2:35 P. M. yesterday the ambulance was called to the corner of Randolph and Beverly streets, where a young man, Charles Reinhardt, who while at work had fallen from a scaffold and broken his thigh. He was taken to his home, at No. 36 Taylor street, and his family physician summoned, who rendered the necessary surgical aid.

To-morrow's Sunday Times will be a mammoth newspaper. Twenty-four pages chock full of local, Virginia and telegraphic news. Besides many columns of interesting reading for all.

Thurman Democratic Club.

The Thurman Democratic Club held its first meeting in the new quarters, at 191 east Main street, last evening. The attendance was large, and President Beverly T. Crump was in the chair. A good deal of routine business was transacted, but nothing was of any general interest.

Twenty-four pages to-morrow. Read the Sunday Times. Everybody will be interested.

Annual Meeting.

On Wednesday, April 5th, the society of the alumni of the Medical College of Virginia will hold their fifth annual meeting in the college building at 5:20 o'clock P. M. Dr. Robert O. Owen, of Lynchburg, will make the address. The banquet will take place at Zimmermann's.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR MEETING.

The Richmond Societies Listen to a Good Address and Have a Nice Time.

The mass-meeting of the Christian Endeavor Societies of Richmond and Manchester was held last evening at Centenary Methodist church. It was well attended, and proved quite a pleasant affair. Mr. Harvie Blair, a prominent Christian worker from Minnesota, delivered the chief address. His remarks were confined to the organization of the society and its methods of work. It was a clear exposition of this wonderful society, and his address was listened to with interest by the visitors as well as the Christian Endeavorers present.

Mr. Blair is visiting Richmond for his health, which has been much impaired by a recent attack of typhoid fever. He was at one time State secretary of the Christian Endeavor Society of Minnesota, and for several years devoted his entire time to the work of organization. He will be in Richmond for a month or more.

Rev. E. T. Dadman, recently elected president of the State Union, who made a spirited address and heartily indorsed the principles of the Christian Endeavor Society.

At the close of the exercises in the auditorium of the church the audience was invited to the lecture room, which had been splendidly decorated for the occasion, where a delightful social was held for an hour and a half. The lecture room was, by the use of parlor lamps, rugs, curtains, flowers and potted plants, turned into a large reception parlor, and general introductions were the order of the evening.

Rev. E. T. Dadman and Mrs. Dadman rendered a beautiful duet, and Mrs. Chris P. Johnson rendered a piano solo. A humorous recitation by Mrs. Paul Pratt and the reading of a beautiful Christian Endeavor poem by Miss Lottie Roberts composed the interesting programme.
